1 Abstract

This is the section to write the Abstract. Your aspirations and goals for the research. Share your problem and the hypothesis for its solution.

2 Introduction

Briefly explain the idea behind your goals and the method you applied. Why did you use that method?

3 The Method

Explain explicitly your method, backing up the reason you presented in the last section.

4 Application

Detailed explanation how you applied the method to the problem in question.

5 Results

Show the results and explain why your solution is better than the usual methods for the specific problem.

6 Conclusion

Share your thoughts on the results and whether there is room for improvement. What is that improvement? Is it achievable?
